the death of the author, creativity transfers to the critic, maybe as...

FRIDAY, AUGUST  29,  2008

another New York Trilogy, those of Paul Auster. Goldsmith's trilogy the propulsive energy of these performances; as if that were more...

For me, these works by Goldsmith reflect something...

NOTES

of celebrity). In this context, conceptual writing is as much a form of...

lingering attachment to the figure of the author (perhaps reflecting...

The novel and the poem posit a personal relationship between the reader and the writer; in...

announcer. They remind me more of Kafka than of Smithson, with perhaps the most provocative sentences of all Goldsmith's...

The tension between a scientific/technological, or "objective", means...

postclassic (Kyle Gann's blog)
Resonate (Aust New Music)
PostEverything

M U S I C  L I N K S