

With still the madness

Of everything harking back through the years.

Perhaps sleep is only another thing, a piece of bark

You ~~XXXXXXXX~~ stooped to pick up long ago.

Shortly after that the red bird flew quietly away.

Or a crumb of moss, too tiny to be clearly seen.